Who can apply

To be eligible for a post-graduation work permit (PGWP), you must meet all eligibility requirements.

Eligibility requirements include

- general eligibility.

- eligibility requirements based on study program
  - Study program requirements include both
    - proof of language skills
    - field of study requirements (if applicable)
- eligibility requirements based on physical location
  - inside Canada graduates
  - outside Canada graduates
- field of study requirements (if applicable).

General eligibility

You meet the general eligibility requirement to apply for a PGWP if

- you completed a program of study at a PGWP-eligible designated learning institution that was at least 8 months long (or 900 hours for Quebec programs)
- you maintained full-time status as a student in Canada during each semester of your study program
  - You may study part-time during your final semester.
- you apply for your PGWP within 180 days of confirmation that you completed your program of study
- your study permit was valid at some point during the 180 days after you graduated and before you submitted your PGWP application

Check the special cases to learn if exceptions to the general eligibility requirements apply to your situation.

► Special cases

► Who's not eligible for a PGWP

Eligibility requirements based on study program

- ▶ If you graduated with a bachelor's degree, master's degree or doctoral degree
- ▶ If you graduated from any other university program
- ▶ If you graduated from any other college, polytechnic or non-university program
- ▶ If you graduated from a flight school

Eligibility requirements based on your physical location

There are different eligibility requirements depending on if you're a graduate applying for a PGWP from within or outside of Canada.

- ▶ In Canada graduates
- ▶ Outside Canada graduates

Field of study requirements

If your study program has a field of study requirement, you must graduate from a program linked to certain occupations in long-term shortage.
